Re: Guidelines for UCLA Students Traveling Abroad

As the summer nears, we anticipate an increase in travel by UC students, faculty, and staff. A new resource “Guidelines for UCLA Students Traveling Abroad” has been developed and updated to assist with travel planning for students: <https://ucla.app.box.com/v/irm-student-travel>. Hard copies of this passport-looking document may be obtained from the office of Insurance & Risk Management. Please disseminate this useful information broadly.

Global travel tips concerning security, health, culture, transportation, legal, financial and language are readily available by using your UCLA Single Sign- On at the following link: <http://ermisp.ucop.edu/uctrip>.

As a reminder, once University travel has been booked, it is important for travelers to complete their online profile with emergency contact information. Completing the travel profile is easy and is a crucial step in improving response time in the event of an emergency. Once an online profile via trip registration is created (<https://ucla.app.box.com/v/irm-travel-registration>), you will receive a “welcome email” by iJET/Worldcue, which will then automatically alert travelers to local circumstances that warrant their attention.

As a reminder, the travel insurance benefits, which may be helpful to protect your health and security, are available at no cost to UC students in UC sponsored and supervised off-campus activities and programs abroad. Coverage also extends to spouses, domestic partners and dependents when traveling with University students.

For additional information or questions regarding UC Travel Programs, please contact the office of Insurance & Risk Management, Tara Brown at (310) 794-9423 or tbrown@irm.ucla.edu.

We encourage you to “Know Before You Go” and take the necessary steps to support your safety while traveling.

Sincerely,

Robin Garrell
